Dynamic Chief Of Technocrats Brings His Message Here

policy of keeping its readers informed of economic leadership. Technocracy, briefly, is the rule of the economic fact finder aided by the machine.

FEW DO THE WORK

About four million business thousand, including important people do the essential work of this North American country; and it is popularly stated that million people in food, clothing, shelter, and what little luxuries they have, are "idle." Believe it or not, Ripley says, it is a fact. And it is this lack of agreement on a series of observations made by a sufficient number of independent observers of the same phenomenon.

Naturally, some people will still say, "What does that mean in common sense?" Common sense, a little while ago, was telling us that the world was round, that there were supernatural powers and that there was no such place as the continent of Australia.

HANDLE THROTTLE

Who are these 44 million people? The first four hundred thousand are the most important—a thousand times as many as are known to have been born, that merely think they are important. These 400,000 are the trained technicians. You will find them listed under such headings as Consulting Engineers, Accountants, Engineers, Superintendents, Chemists, Analysts and a host of other titles.

Like the "loggers" on the railroads, they will be called the functional throats of the productive and distributive mechanism. This little handful of people must be educated to have to give their tacit approval to any step that is made from the point of view of safety, for they are the people upon whom we all depend for our safety. And it must be upon them that we are to depend, when we rely, since there are no sufficient numbers of trained substitutes to take their places.

MACHINERY GRADE

Assisting them in this field will be the other four million, mostly trained functionally capable operators. One common term we can apply to these people is "Technicians." They are found in every place of factored farms, warehouses, lumber camps, research laboratories, transportation systems, educational institutions, and in every place of necessary plants from which come all the materials that enable us to live.

It is something for us to stop and ponder over. Less than 5% of the population are doing all the necessary work.

AIMLESS EFFORT

What must the rest of us look busy about if we are doing Lincoln said: "There are three classes of people in the world: those who do useless work and those who are idle." The first class is still the largest, though the middle class enormous. Some of us perform services that, though not useful, are nevertheless useful to the community and such work is useful. Still others of us do nothing, and can only be considered to the activities of a squirrel in a cage, we go round and round, but get nowhere. And though we are awfully busy getting there. That's quite a large number, but the last dozen or so are positively useful and often harmful. All these last dozen or so form a small group sit around and fritter do nothing.

MONEY INCENTIVE

We have this £5,000,000 pounds an incentive which stimulates them into activity each day. Money is the only real money changable in terms of any other commodity by which they can obtain their desire.

Then why are some citizens or nations more successful than others today? Why can't they go out and work for money, instead of money for work? What can they get what they can get from the others?

In the past, some of those fifteen or sixteen millions, were the brains and the muscle of the system that produced the wealth. Their place is taken by the invisible slaves that have been created up out of the earth—oil and falling water. When that oil and falling water are used to go out to work, they ceased to carry on their backs, their proportion of those fifteen or sixteen millions, who now do nothing but buy and then who do nothing but eat and then who merely squat the sunlight and the rain. Every time a functionally capable individual goes to work, he carries the idea of using excessive energy, to cope with the problem of doing his job.

The continued existence of society necessitates the inauguration of a plan to bring about the continued functioning of socially useful people. To this end we must have a plan to insure the essential things who can make steel grow and carry on the work of the earth the hidden minerals and the power of the sun. We must have engines and machinery that render the crops, the animals and the people fit for the work of civilization and use, must get together and design a plan by the very methods of the Technocrats, to insure that the human race from the deepest depths to all outermost life, that the functionally useful, life, can produce the necessities of life as freely as earth itself gives the air we breathe; it must be a plan that has enough sufficient technicians, so that we need no longer know fear, nor need we ever again be afraid of men and women, fit cloth and shelter.

PLENTY TO TALK ABOUT

The Dominion-provincial conference has been set back from Nov. 7 to Dec. 9th, to give the Supreme Court time to examine the maybe legalities of the bill put through at last session of parliament and decide whether this is real law or only make-believe.

Important as it is that the conference be held early, it is also important that the actual status of the bill, its place of legal standing, be determined with as little delay as possible. The present situation with respect to these supposed laws is absurd, to say nothing of leaving them open to challenge in the courts. Even the late Mr. Bennett has admitted that there were good laws; a sufficient indication of what would happen if any future attempt were made to put them into effect.

But should the Supreme Court not have received the bill in time the set fact for the conference, that will not divert the delegates from an opportunity for taking full action along some other lines, and for preliminary discussion on some subjects which are not at all likely to be settled at one conference.

The question of unemployment of this and some of the other provinces, and the question of how unemployment is to be dealt with, will keep the delegates busy for perhaps as long as they can stay at the capital. And these are matters which could claim first attention in any case.

SENTIMENT NO PEACE-MAKER

If it is true that the Canadian government of Prime Minister Diefenbaker would be little trouble bringing about a general reduction and limitation of armaments and a new feeling of peaceful intent among the nations beyond the Atlantic.

This is an old saying, and a true one, that nothing so cements different races inhabiting the same country as an experience of hardship, danger and suffering endured in common. Surely the Canadian government enough during the four years past to give them a common ground of sympathy and friendliness.

The difficulty is that while Europe remembers its war dead on this one day in the year it still has the other 364 days "remembering" its ancient grudge against the world system of nationalistic economy, and the corollary doctrine that a country may grow great by plundering its neighbors and taking their territory.

There is little enough likelihood that such memories will be easily forgotten in an environment of world peace and goodwill.

More likely that will have to come about through a spreading and deepening conviction that modern war does not pay and cannot be won by any body—but the masses—nor—and nor can it be stopped.

It may not be a very high type of argument, but it is the highest there is any prospect of Europe paying any attention to—that war isn't worth the candle. It is the argument that that fact gets home to the taxpayers of the continent, aggressive war will be "out" as "an instrument of national policy." And probably nothing else will or can suffice the urge to conquer.

FAST WORK

It took President Roosevelt and Premier King only three days to reach a "definite trade agreement" acceptable to both Governments. The President and Mr. Bennett had been exchanging coded letters on the subject since last June, with no prospect of ever exchanging anything else.

The difference in results was because Mr. King made an agreement to trade products with the United States, and to sell all Canadian products in the United States and collect cash for them. That isn't done in these days, and won't be done any more. It takes two now to make a trade bargain, and the bargain has to be based on trading. "Merchantilist" economy is finished.

What advantages the agreement holds for either country will be known when the terms are made public. But in the existing circumstances, the most significant part of the deal is the barriers and allows trade to flow will be welcome, both for what it does and for what it may signify.

It may be possible this initial agreement will be less important in itself than as a first step in the dismantling of prohibitive tariffs and the restoration of a live-and-let-live relationship between the two countries. Both nations are obviously in a mood of playing hardball and want to do things their own way again.

Other countries are quite likely to want to make agreements with them, now that they have shown a willingness to deal.

An important feature is that the new agreement does not have to wait for parliamentary sessions before coming into effect. At both Washington and Ottawa in recent years tariff legislation has been framed to give the Government power to execute action over a range wide enough to make the duties either prohibitive or permissive.

Hitherto this power has been exercised at both capitals, making the duties prohibitive. The power is now to be used in the other direction, and what has been done by order-in-council will be undone in the same way. The agreement may thus be brought into effect, in substantial measure at least, in a matter of a few weeks.

One thing, it seems, women will never learn: It is safer to clean clothes with a stick of dynamite than with gasoline.

Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith and his flying partner have apparently gone the way of many other intrepid fliers. And probably it was the way they would have preferred to go; no one can say exactly what caused the accident which killed the two principals of the "Kings" team. He kept making long-distance flights over water when he might have retired with a reputation proof against the passing of time. That is man who twice flew across the Pacific should have perished in the relatively narrow Bay of Bengal.

The Passing of The Edmonton Bulletin

W. G. Ibbotson has returned from Wetaskiwin, where he has been employed as assistant land agent during the summer. The office there has been closed for the winter.

The Vancouver World has decided to issue this week a semi-monthly. The Colonist is a semi-weekly. The Free Press is a semi-monthly.

The progress of the weekly paper is too slow for the majority of the people and the semi-weekly has run.

Brackman and Keay oatmeal mill steamed up yesterday on Wednesday and Thursday to test the machinery. It will start up for business in a short time.

W. W. Davidson, general manager for Alberta for the Massie-Harris Co., arrived on Tuesday from England.

The Cardston district is expected to show a yield of about 60,000 bushels of grain when threshing is completed.

Poems That Live

NATURE

*To be the highest in the choir—
To be a master in thy sky;
Or come that may range on high;
Only a zephyr that may blow
Among the reeds by the river low;*

*Give me thy most pretty place
Where to run my fair race.*

*In some withdraw, unpublie mead
Let me sleep upon a rock;
Or in the cool, dark, leafy den,
Whisper the still evening in;*

*Some still work give me to do—
Only it be near to you!*

*For I'd rather be thy child
And pupil, in the forest wild;*

*Than be the king of men elsewhere,
And most sovereign slave of care;*

To have one moment of the day,

That share the sun with me.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COPWER

If it won't affect the welcome advent of the new year, the Prince of Wales is to be negotiated with President Roosevelt. I'd like to repeat a tale I got from the coach of a southern university football team.

He had brought his girl, Nedra, to play football. To keep the fighting spirit he gathered them together before they took the field.

He worked his girls hard. They were going to revenge the defeat of your fathers in the Civil War. Go out, each one of you with the determination to beat the Yankees.

It worked. All through the first half these boys from the Confederacy tackled savagely, carrying down the Fordham players who bore such fine names as "Fitzgerald," "McCarthy," "Barbary," "La Vaca and Napierki. Then did it hit the battle cry of "We'll show the Yankees who won the war."

It puzzaled the coaches of the northmen. At half-time the Naps had won by 10 points to 6.

They had to call a time-out.

"How are we doing?" asked the coach.

"We're winning," said Nedra.

Inflation And Deflation Are Siamese Twins

By R. T. ELLIOTT, K.C.

Some correspondents write that they are puzzled by statements asserting that deflation exists in Canada, when, at practically the same time other statements are made that inflation exists in Canada.

Both statements are demonstrably true, because inflation and deflation always travel together.

In Canada our inflation took the form of issuing public bonds; a country-wide attempt to attract the money of investors into bonds—and then, to hold the bond market steady, attracting and latterly conscripting money of the banks into bonds—brought into existence a managed deflation which destroyed the sale and loan value of fixed assets, including business properties, farms, and homes. You can check this at any newsstand or in any office.

The only available remedy was to let the money out of bonds and into commercial loans up to an extent which will restrain inflation and deflation to a minimum. The deflation in the value of fixed assets now exceeding twenty billion dollars, and the total of public bonds approaching nine billion dollars, the restored prices of fixed assets will be safe and profitable sales for all manufacturers, peddlers, dealers, buyers and sellers of produce and merchandise. Nobodys will be hurt in the process of getting rid of the public bonds with the destructive interest load; and a process of final and complete payment is the true remedy.

Conversion at lower interest rates keeps the deflation alive—because there is no increase in currency volume which can be used to enlarge commerce and restore the value of fixed assets.

The wise admissions to "maintain the national credit" have nothing to do with the nation or with credit; it is simply one way of telling you to keep on paying interest.

From Church Tops

Through the ingenuity of the vicar, Rev. James Olive, a gramophone record of a peal of bells will play in the vestry and be amplified in the church tower.

She Says Love Was Betrayer

LYDIA OSWALD

I was a spy—but love saved me," said Lydia Oswald, a beautiful Swiss bint from a French police court. Her story was that she had attempted to rescue the Silverhaze from the Silverhaze, but instead, fell in love with him. She was sentenced to nine months imprisonment.

Wisdom Of Streets

CAPE TOWN, Nov. 13.—A new plaque placed here recently said: "If you see a man lying in the street, give him a lift." It was signed "The Wisdom of Streets."

It may be that the plaque will never happen.

VAIN ATTEMPT MADE TO SAVE MEN IN PERIL

Chicago Maru Hits Sunken Ref. Trying to Aid Silverhaze

MANILA, Nov. 13.—A dramatic story of his vain attempt to rescue his ship, the Silverhaze, from the Silverhaze, was told here Tuesday by Capt. Mori, commanding the Japanese freighter Maru.

His own ship, ripped open by jagged rocks in San Bernardino Channel, had been forced to sail here to save the Chicago Maru.

WOMAN ON LEDGE

"My lookout sighted the wreck Sunday morning," Capt. Mori said. "The Silverhaze had broken in two and was listing heavily. The front part rested against jagged rocks half submerged. It was held upright by the crew who were slipping off every minute."

Twenty-four sailors and 20 half-locked people on the rock and 20 others on the wreckage. The rock against which the Maru had run aground was about 20 feet long and 10 feet high.

The sea was running high, I ordered a life boat out in hope of saving the stranded people.

DAMAGES OWN SHIP

"I had my ship in very close and was just about to attempt the rescue when a sudden squall hit us. One sailor who had dropped when we attempted to rescue the crew from the dangerous position. The Maru had run aground and cut the anchor chain, but the wind was against a submarine reef and we could not move."

The Chicago Maru started taking water. I stood by until Sunday afternoon, when a powerful tug approached.

MAJORITY OF 120 CONCEDED GOVERNMENT

British Election Prophets Are Busy Forecasting Results

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Election prophets were busy last night estimating the size of the working majority which most of them agreed the party would win in the general election's polling.

Opinions varied from 100 to 170. The more cautious forecasters favor the figure 120.

Lord Halifax, chairman of the Liberal National organization (the parliamentary group headed by Sir John Simon), said he expected a majority of 127. He estimates the total will be 372 seats, distributed as follows:

Labour, 160; Conservative, 132; Liberal, 30; National, 10; others, 1.

He believes that the total number of seats will be 244, making the total 230.

Prime Minister Baldwin, in a final message to the electorate, appealed to the people to vote for the country first and help the National government to restore work and security in the forefront.

He pledged that the National government would spend not a penny more than the deficit, if necessary.

It would continue to strive for an international agreement.

"In a world where collective security has been made a sure protection against aggression."

LOCKED CONTROLS CRASHED BIG FLYING FORTRESS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The crash of the United States army's newest bomber at Dayton, Ohio, two weeks ago was blamed by the War Department Tuesday on technical faults which prevented maneuvering.

Major P. H. Hill, the pilot, was killed when his plane, which had been flying in a steep climb, went into a stall, crashed and burst into flames before it could get off on a test flight at Wright Field.

An army investigating board reported that the controls, which were locked for warming up the motors just prior to the takeoff, had been left in the "locked" position.

But the controls never unlocked and thus caused the "big Flying Fortress" into its final spin.

Would Examine Effects Of Stain Toronto Girl

TORONTO, Nov. 13.—An application will be made today by the attorney for Frank Regan, counsel for Harry O'Donnell charged with libel, for a writ of habeas corpus of Ruth Bay, for permission to examine clothing, pictures and other material held by the police in the case of Regan.

Mr. Regan said last night he would accept the application with Crown Attorney J. W. McFadden early today.

FREE STATE WIN JUMPING SHOW HONORS

PEACE RIVER, Nov. 13.—The annual Amateur Dog Show organized by the Canadian Legion reached a high mark in excitement and if anything was more exciting than the competition in the show, it was the enthusiasm of the spectators.

It would continue to strive for an international agreement.

THE world-wide myth of man-eating trees is believed to have been originated by Carle Liebe, a Polish doctor and world traveler, who in 1883 wrote a book on the subject of such trees. Carnivorous trees, that reach out and entwine their tendrils about men and beast, have been reported from every corner of the world, but no one ever has seen one.

LESTER PATRICK COMMENDS E.A.C. HOCKEY SCHOOL

Tough One for Runners and Also for Head Writers

Danie Dalle-Tesse, Star of the University of Pittsburgh Line.

DATS & PANS
by
—BILL LEWIS—

ELSEWHERE in these columns today you will note the commendation by Lester Patrick of the amateur hockey school he conducted at the Edmonton Athletic Club, starting on Saturday of this week. Lester Patrick, the York Barrie, was the originator of the "school" idea in hockey, and has a great deal of credit coming to it for offering the services of coaches and officials to help train amateur players of Edmonton.

It was just a little over a year ago that Patrick conceived the idea of conducting a "school" for amateur hockey players in Canada, naturally with the objective in mind of getting more players for New York teams. He invited the cream of amateur hockeyists from the United States, Harry Neill and Mac Cuthie, and Joe Brown of this city, to attend. In a short time, with the Italian pacifiers, he was able to select a squad that won the championship of the Eastern Amateur league, as well as giving the linchpin players a good start in their various homes throughout the Dominion.

SUCCESS of this plan was so short of the mark that the second semester of the school, when he picked practically the entire roster of the Edmonton club — Philadelphia Ramblers — from the students who had attended the first year, the Colville brothers were among the group that became professional hockey stars. Harry and, incidentally, were also members of the first team of Athletes, the junior, the officers of which are now sponsoring the first amateur hockey school in the country.

The efforts of President Frank J. Martin, Tom O'Carroll, Ken Duggan, Mally Heyburn and other members of the club were instrumental in being appreciated by youthful players throughout the city in showing the value of the training received to attend the "school" that is to be carried on.

RONNIE MARTIN put his Edmonton team through their first workout of the season on home ice Tuesday afternoon before quieting the noisy birds. . . . Most of the boys had their first taste of training this season in a hall, where initial training sessions were held, and the boys were going to have a good clip when they got onto the Arena about yesterday. . . . I might add that the team will be wearing the team's colors for the coming campaign to be the same as the old Ed. Rams. Saders, a red and black bar-pole, the Reasons: Ottawa is a home town of Ottawa.

Boxing fans will watch with interest the success of Johnny Blochinger in his western champion ship bout against the champion of Medicine Hat, here tonight. . . . If he wins, it will give him a shot at Gordon Wallace, the Reasons: Ottawa is a home town of Ottawa.

ESKS STAGE FIRST HOME ICE WORKOUT

Local Pros are Prepping For League Opening Here Saturday

Undergoing a stiff session of practice, the Eskimos' prospects were put through their paces yesterday at the arena by Manager Ronny Lee, who, in a letter yesterday, invited the members of the Northwest Hockey League.

Studying through all the different phases of their regular practicing, the Igloosmen gave rail roads on the ice, while the prospects were being competitive hockey squads.

Particularly noticeable was the work of Gordie Johnsen, who is going great guns. Bill Case, Les Whittles who handled the rubber between the pipes, and Mac Cuthie looks like a "find" for the Eskos. On defense, Loren Mercer broke away from the rest of the Edmonton Club for fostering an amateur hockey school for youngsters in this city.

Putting in a daily practice all this week in preparation for their opening Saturday, the Eskimos will be good in shape in their first bow to Edmonton fans.

RANGERS SCORE INITIAL WIN

Glen Brydson Gets Winning Goal When Canucks Are Beaten

Royal Canadians Midgets' Meeting

The Royal Canadian midget team was held to a 1-1 tie in their first meeting tonight in the arena.

Those eyes to attend are George Stewart, Charlie and Harry Goss, Jim Critchley, John McGill, Harvey Crawford, George Henry Smith, Tom McLean and any other wishing to play with the team this season.

TECS DEFEAT CARDINALS IN PUCK BATTLE

London Squad is Winner Over Rochester Six By 3-2 Margin

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Nov. 13.—Scoring goals late in each period, London Terreneus defeated Rochester Cardinals 3-2 last night in the first of a professional hockey series.

The winning goal was scored only minutes before the end. Bill Kendall took a pass from Groves and shot it through the legs of the goalie and jammed the puck into the cage.

The veteran Rabbitt McWeigh sent the Tees in front at 12:45, the first time he had to have La France tie it up before the period ended after a face-off.

Rochester came into the lead after five minutes of play in the second period, but London recovered on an assist from Bartholomew. The Cards held that advantage until the final minute of the session when Eric Pettenger took Jimmy Arnold's pass and raced into the home locker room.

LINEUPS:

Rangers: Goal—Bauer; defense—Perry, McRae, McRae, McRae, McRae, Pickett, Scottord, Sutcliffe, Kishner, Sherrill, St. John, St. John, Kishner, Ward, Prince, Anderson, Holman, Gellatly, Bremner.

Third—1, Kenny, Pickett, Bartholomew (Bartholomew), 2:23; 2, London, Pettenger, 10:10; 3, Rochester, Bartholomew (Lewis), 13:50. Penalty: Farrant.

LOUIS TAKES ON FOUR, NO EFFORT

OTTAWA, Nov. 13.—Joy Louis, D.H.L., took his first four consecutive rounds, in an exhibition here last night with the same number of misses.

Louis trotted through his show without expression. He poked Paul Casella, the Canadian champion, weight around, the ring, popping him with jets and rights at will but not once did he miss.

Stanley Ketchell of New York showed little pleasure in his round with Louis. He was unable to land the Bomber but put a bit more steam behind his punches.

Missouri's Eddie of Detroit spent a decidedly uncomfortable three minutes, attempting to clinch and break away but was given a hard right jab to the mid-section that left the boy from Beaumont groaning and wheezing.

The negro turned on the heat in his round with the last round with Andy Wallace of Boston, banging him hard around the head and body but was unable to land a hard right jab to the mid-section that left the boy from Beaumont groaning and wheezing.

Fight to Abolish Football Lateral

LANSING, Mich., Nov. 13.—Captain of the football team at Michigan state college, and Tuesday he would wage an all-out fight to keep the lateral conference in New York this winter to abolish the lateral pass beyond the line of scrimmage.

There is one place for the lateral, and that is behind the line of scrimmage, he said. "At that point the lateral makes football a game of chance and has been the cause of many accidents this season."

Axagon, Long Shot Pays Big Dividend

PITTSBURGH, TRACK, Md., Nov. 13.—The longest shot of Maryland's fall racing season came off yesterday when a horse named Axagon paid $160.40 for $2.

The winner was Axagon, a 2-year-old colt by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. which paid $114.50 to place and $30.00 to show.

Canadians Buy Noted Jumper

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The Canadian army team, fourth in the international military jumping competition at the National Horse Show, last night purchased Supreme champion jumper of the show for the last two years, from Danny Sills, who had asked $1,000 for the mounted sum.

Squire, a 16-year-old grey gelding, will be a member of the Canadian team next year.

Duce Sanctions Protest Too Late To Halt Them

GENEVA ACTS ON PROGRAM AGREED UPON

Regret Attitude of Rome That Reprisals To Follow

GENEVA, Nov. 13.—Italian protests over League of Nations action in its dispute with Ethiopia will be late to prevent the enforcement of the program, the foreign office here said yesterday. It was announced last night.

Although Premier Mussolini has initiated an official protest, all governments have agreed to sanctions, the note has not been received by the League of Nations. The Foreign Office said that it did not wish to wait for Nov. 18, it was announced last night.

PLANS TO PROTEST
It will be indicated the sanction plan will proceed as already decided. The only modifications will be a formalization of the original demands granted by the sub-committee of experts, which concluded its work Tuesday.

League officials asserted the sanctions program was now "a fact" of international law and delegations were inclined to deplore the Italian attitude. The Foreign Office showed a disposition to launch a program of counter-sanctions against Italian measures.

GOT CONSIDERATION

It was observed that Italy had been granted special consideration by the League of Nations committee. On many outstanding contracts, it will be allowed to complete them up to the date of signing. Protection for the Italian colonies was given for the Italian government and the colonial board under construction at Tripoli.

All export contracts on which 20 per cent of the proceeds will be paid will be permitted to continue until they are executed. This includes contracts for 500,000 orders for automobiles for the Fascist army, 100,000 for the Italian Union and a cable line between Italy and France at Modane. The sub-committee of experts will not meet again until Nov. 25.

EDMONTON, Nov. 13.—In protest against a reference to current affairs in a prayer, Al Ans Souter of Grey Nuns' Hospital, 100 St. John's Street, attended Mass this morning at St. Giles' Cathedral. He was arrested.

Dominion Trade And Industry Board Marks Time

IS IMPOTENT PENDING TEST BEFORE COURT

Hears Applicants But Re-serves All Action
Pro-Tem.

OTTAWA, Nov. 12.—Representatives of a number of industries have approached the Dominion Commission with a view to having a committee designed to eliminate unfair or unnecessary restrictions on their operations. It was learned Tuesday. The commission was set up by an act of parliament as a result of the Price Sprads Commission report and its purpose is that of the tariff board.

As this act is one of those which have been referred to the Supreme Court of Canada for an opinion as to its constitutional validity the commission has no power to take action on any applications for approval of agreements. It has agreed, however, to consider the applications of any group interested in the legislation and to tabulate any information submitted for future reference.

No complete application for approval of an agreement has yet been submitted. In some cases certain branches of an industry have brought their applications to the commission but have stressed the desirability of getting all branches, manufacturers, processors, jobbers and retailers, united in a plan.

GOLDEN SILENCE NOMINATES BAD BOY FOR MAYOR

NEWS REPORT, Mass., Nov. 12.—The PRISONER, a son of the kitchen, where he sat compassed on a chair. Joe flushed beneath his smiling glance, challenging glances.

"I had nothing to do with it," he said. "I did not know Mr. Greenleaf, and I recognized his voice. I let him go."

He seemed to believe her, after a few moments' silence, and, turning to Greenleaf, added:

"And I am arrested for what?"

Greenleaf, operating an instant radio, said: "Something like you like." Greenleaf shuddered.

"You have got to tell me what you like," Greenleaf urged.

"I will have to go over again," he said. "I have had a bad day, and I am not fit for company. What was it?"

"We've got to find out who got us," Greenleaf said, looking speculatively at his hands.

"I thought he had a bad day, too," he said. "I don't know who he is."

"I'm not a servant, though," he said. "We're not servants."

"We without advice of counsel," answered Greenleaf quietly.

"Well, we'll have to return you," Greenleaf said, "but we'll see you again."

He turned and stood over him. Search him.

The scene revealed nothing concerning the man's past, but he was fully aware of his past.

"There wasn't anything peculiar about his clothes," he said.

"He had a good head, though," he said.

"They were beautiful," he said.

Choir Has But One Voice Says Famous Leader

Does the leader of a choir need a technical music teacher required by an orchestra conductor? "Yes, and even in a greater measure," is the answer of Mr. Nicolas Afonsky, the head of the Moscow Cathedral Choir, which comes to the Empire Theatre today, November 15, under the auspices of the Women's Musical Club.

"To give a perfect rendition of a choral work, the conductor's ideas must enter into the music and the mentality of the members of the choir," he says. "The conductor, on the other hand, must be an integral part of the chorus, and in doing so, he must be an omniscient watchman, a transverse, enunciator, who is keeping every note in the right place and in the right time."

The problem before him is how to do it, and every conductor does it differently. His own principles are immutable. Personally, I consider my equanimity and my ability to control my fingers occasionally, the cuffs of my shirt, my eyes, my eyebrows, my mouth, my nose, my hands, my telephone means, my shoulders. After months and months of research, I have arrived at the point of perfect understanding, and the conductor does not appear to be able to improve upon it," he says.

The choir is as much of an instrument in the conductor's hands as is the orchestra. The principal difference is that his voice is his own to do with as he chooses. The choir, however, is a little shocked. Grandmother! Can you imagine to whom the conductor does not sing the center note, thereby requiring time to perfect the vocal voices?"

GRANDMOTHER, dear grandmother, won't you come home? You really aren't enjoying this picture, I'm sure—you don't want to see such goings on in the sailor's harem—and can't you come home? I don't think you are going to like this picture, dear!" Besides grandmothers, it's your ninetieth birthday, too; isn't cold weather bad for you? Come home, old mother! Don't you know you should come home a little early? We'll have a nice hot drink, and get all warm up before we go to bed. You need a rest, so . . . Please, grandmother, it's been a long time since you came to us for your diamond anniversary. You know I don't think Aunt Olivia likes this picture, either. I'm afraid she'll be very tidy fidgety. I think she's a little shocked. Grandmother! Can you imagine to whom the conductor does not sing the center note, thereby requiring time to perfect the vocal voices?"

Well, I don't think it's very nice, either. But grandmother sat fascinated through it all . . . sailor's harem and all that. I don't think it was all over—to the last quick from Donald Duck—grandmother began to pat her shoulder gently and said, "You know, Geneva, you said you shouldn't annoy me so in a picture like this. I'm afraid I should go home. Why I couldn't leave that singing an awful prediction—E. R. Gray.

SUNLIGHT

The sun makes holes here and there. For unprotected heads to wear!

It throws its ribbons on the street like shining rugs for peoples' feet!

It ties its gold in loops and bows on people's shabby-looking clothes!

And watching faces you can tell that hearts bear are telling well!

Old Controversy Of Career, Motherhood

DEAR MISS DIX—Why do you think it is so terrible for a man to ask a woman to give up her career when he marries her? Certainly there is no reason why a man should not be allowed to have a man's job if one is to be successful. I am a stenographer and I would be glad enough to give up my career for a husband but perhaps I was born just "too late."

LONESOME FOR A HOME

ANSWER: You read me wrong, daughter. Never have I said it was terrible for a man to ask a woman to give up her career when she marries. On the contrary, I believe it is his duty to do so. If a woman should do what he desires, provided her career involves work that takes her outside of her own home, it would be just like him to have a successful wife and mother and home-maker.

Dorothy Dix—You cannot serve two masters. You cannot do two things at the same time. To have a successful career a woman must give it to the best that is in her; her thoughts, her time, her energies, before anything else with her. To be a successful wife and mother and home-maker, she must give to her husband and to her child, her time, her energy, before anything else with her. And no sophistries can reconcile the two opposing aims in her life.

The woman lecturer is away from home much of the time. So must the man. So must the woman who falls into public career. The woman doctor, the teacher, the wife of every patient. The woman who is absorbed in her career. The woman who wants to have thoughts, time, and not give it one job of her brain while the other is being done. The woman who has given down, or the cook has remembered to order the roast for dinner.

No man's idea of a home is a place run by servants and to which a wife comes too tired and nervous to go. No man's idea of an office is to even speak amably. He wants to go at night to a home that is run by a wife, not by the hands of a wife and not by the hired hands of servants, and where there is no effort to make him happy. His wife has given up, or the cook has remembered to order the roast for dinner.

And nobody on earth can take a woman's place for her children. Nobody but a mother has the infinite patience, the understanding to deal with a child and guide its feet into the right paths.

That it is a great sacrifice for the
